40 Years and Building...

More homes. Stronger communities. Unwavering hope.

For four decades, Richmond Metropolitan Habitat for Humanity has been a steadfast force for affordable housing in the Greater Richmond region. Since opening its doors in 1986, Richmond Habitat has partnered with thousands of donors, volunteers, community organizations, and families to create lasting change one home, one repair, and one neighborhood at a time.

What began as a small, grassroots effort with a meeting at Aunt Sarah's Pancake House has grown into a powerful organization that addresses some of the region's most pressing needs. Over the past 40 years, Richmond Habitat has:

- Built and preserved hundreds of affordable homes, offering families the opportunity to achieve strength, stability, and long-term financial security. We will be finishing our 400th home build for a Habitat homeowner in 2026!
- Expanded our programs to include home repairs and community revitalization efforts.
- Opened two Habitat ReStores, providing a sustainable way for community members to donate goods, shop affordably, and support Habitat's mission.
- Mobilized generations of volunteers, from students and faith groups to corporate partners and community members.
- Advocated for housing equity, advancing policies that ensure safe, affordable housing is within reach for all.

As Richmond Habitat celebrates this 40-year milestone, we reflect on the thousands of lives changed and look ahead with renewed commitment. The need for affordable housing has never been greater, and Habitat remains dedicated to building a community where every family has a solid foundation to thrive.
